NORTHERN PLAINS NATIONAL HERITAGE AREA

Ready to embark on a short, heritage riverine get-away? This summer get as close as possible to a section of the longest river in all of North America, the Missouri River, in central North Dakota. Start your journey aboard the Lewis & Clark Riverboat. Before and after, sit dock side at the new Heritage River Landing. Spots are waiting with over 4,000 square feet of patio space. The address is 1700 River Road in North Dakota's Capital City of Bismarck.

The Lewis & Clark gets underway starting on Memorial Weekend through early September. The riverboat is a faux steamboat built in 1991. It mimics the steamboats that ascended the Missouri River in this area as early as 1831, with the steamboat Yellowstone that carried the naturalists and artists Karl Bodmer and George Catlin.

The riverboat has an enclosed main deck and open-air upper deck seating. Cruise times range from one hour, to an hour and a half, to two hours. The riverboat runs at set public charter times (found at lewisandclarkriverboat.com) and can also be reserved for private charter (inquire at 701-255-4233). Full riverboat capacity is 105 passengers.

Complimenting the riverboat is the Heritage River Landing, which serves as the orientation headquarters for the Northern Plains National Heritage Area, one of the 55 National Heritage Areas in the United States. At the landing, get oriented to the partner resources of the NPNHA. This includes locations up and down river that reflect the heritage of the Missouri River.

Sites connected with the Missouri River include the Former North Dakota Governors' Mansion State Historic Site, Camp Hancock State Historic Site, Fort Abraham Lincoln State Park, Huff Indian Villages State Historic Site, and Fort Rice State Historic Site. Further north of Bismarck, about a 40-minute drive, is the Lewis & Clark Interpretive Center. On the west side of the Missouri River is Cross Ranch State Park, Fort Clark State Historic Site, and Knife River Indian Villages National Historic Site.

All heritage flows from the Missouri River in central North Dakota. We are waiting with our most deliberate hospitality to host.

THE Lewis & Clark Riverboat continues the heritage and tradition of Missouri River steamers at the Port of Bismarck in central North Dakota. We offer the most deliberate hospitality for public and private cruises from May thru September. This includes bus tours, reunions, business meetings, weddings, unique heritage tourism travelers, and more. The Lewis & Clark Riverboat is one of several partners of the Northern Plains National Heritage Area, one of the 55 National Heritage Areas in the United States. Contact us with any questions and to make arrangements. All aboard!

If you have a date in mind for a company charter, family event, wedding reception, school outing or reunion, please call and get in touch with us!

WE'LL RESERVE YOUR SPECIAL DATE AND ARRANGE YOUR CRUISE.
