Fargo is well worth the trip this fall with events happening nearly daily, bustling shopping and nightlife, and art everywhere you look. Whether you are planning a road trip to the area this fall or you're just starting to make your plans for the season, we hope you pencil us in for some of our favorite fall events.

FARGO MARATHON (September 20-25)

Normally in May, the Fargo Marathon is back on September 25 in 2021. Known as one of the flattest and most fun races for runners and non-runners alike. Register for one of the races throughout the week like the 5k, full marathon, or youth run or just come to stand along the route and enjoy the 50+ bands and celebrations afterwards.

NDSU HOMECOMING (October 9)

The North Dakota State University Bison Football team has been FCS National Champions for years, but Homecoming is about more than just the game. Stroll through the tailgating tents at the FARGODOME and enjoy the Midwest-nice locals celebrating their team.

CHRISTKINDLMARKT (November 18-21)

Hallmark has nothing on this beautiful winter market. Moving to a new home in Broadway Square in Downtown Fargo, Christkindlmarkt will have live music by local bands, blacksmithing demos, make and take art projects, and of course a visit from Santa Clause. Grab a local brew and check out the German-style vendor village and food trucks and enjoy the magical event.

There is so much more to enjoy in Fargo this fall like the final weekends of the Red River Market, Octobrewfest, the Canoe Parade, and the Studio Crawl. Find out more about what's going on at fargomoorhead.org/events.
